

Kansans
For Quality
Mental Health Services
Political Action Committee

What are you able to give to ensure quality mental health services?

This Political Action Committee (PAC) represents people concerned about ensuring that behavioral health services are available to all Kansans, regardless of their ability to pay. The PAC supports elected state officials who support this cause. Your contribution gives collaborative strength and influence over who will make decisions about the future of quality mental health services.

Where contributions go and why

All contributions to Kansans for Quality Mental Health Services (KQMHS) are used to support candidates of both major political parties who are pro-behavioral health services. We need your voluntary financial contribution to help preserve and expand the public behavioral health care system.

Why this is important

Elected officials make decisions that affect you, your family and your community. These decisions include seeking full funding for mental health services, increasing access to services and ensuring quality of services.

Your contribution will make a big difference in helping us continue our efforts. It's time supporters of quality mental health services made their voices heard on these issues affecting your job, community and the system about which you care so much.
